OUR COMMITMENT

Fortescue Metals Group (Fortescue) respects the need to protect the environment in which we operate. We demonstrate a proud history of environmental engagement to minimise, mitigate and remediate the impacts of our operations.

OUR STRATEGY

As we continue to mature and grow our business, we strive to achieve effective and sustainable environmental outcomes through disciplined environmental management. In true Fortescue spirit, this includes innovative consideration of environmental management techniques in project development, operation and rehabilitation.

To ensure our operations do not have unacceptable impacts to the environment, Fortescue will continually review and improve the environmental performance and processes of our business, ensuring that compliance with all relevant environmental laws and obligations is the minimum standard to which we operate, and the minimum requirement against which we measure our environmental performance.

Protecting the environment now and into the future is a cornerstone of Fortescue's success and sustainability. This success benefits not only our company, but also our families, our communities and our future generations.
